READERS GUIDE TO PLAYING DIXIELAND

Preface

If you are reading this you're probably a turmpet, clarinet or tenor sax player who can't fluently transpose up a note, therefore can't use a "C" book. Possibly you're just getting into Dixieland, or you may even be a formally-trained player who normally plays "legit", but for some reason needs to play Dixieland tunes.

The purpose of this book is to perpetuate Dixieland Jazz by providing a practical tool that you can use to learn the music, in a format you can use in performance. It includes all the basic tunes, plus classics known and less-known, and some practical tunes you might play on hotel gigs. You'll be able to play with commercial bands, or even start your own band.

The notes and chords are taken from a wide variety of sources, including the original records. The object has been to make the sheets as authoritative as we can, and as feasible relate them to recordings so you learn tunes by playing along.

Published fakebooks, eg. Hal Leonard's excellent "Ultimate" series, have many "pop" dixieland tunes, but they often have more modern chords, and the few multi-strained classics have only the melody strain. "Sheet music" collections are useless on the bandstand. A succession of "under-the-counter" fakebooks by musicians have helped sustain the music, but are hard to find, and neither their notes nor chords are authoritative; no "legal" fakebooks been published.

Phrasing--The tunes as published frequently had phrasing very different from the way bands actually play them-ie, originally square phrasing typical of 1920s music usually is played swingy-so you must learn to hear the tune's melody but play it in the phrasing style appropriate to the tune, or to the band you're working with. When you can do that, you have taken the first step in "faking"-improvising. In most cases, two 8th notes are played sort of like a dotted 8th and a 16th, but not quite; here, a succession of dotted 8th-16th combinations is written as all 8th notes.

Tempo values—Each sheet has a tempo value; it should be taken as a starting point until you have specific reason to change it. Vocal tunes are played somewhat slower as vocals than as instrumentals; as sing-alongs even slower. Instrumental tunes (ie the multi-strained tunes) are usually faster. Try singing the tune; usually don't play it any faster than the words are comfortable. Another benchmark is the tempo at which the tune is most effective as a dance tune. Virtually all tunes have a segment of several bars where playing the correct tempo is crucial: too fast and the melody or lyrics feel hurried, too slow and the passage drags; the best tempo for the passage is the best tempo for the tune as a whole. Most tunes should "swing", some should "rock"; I think all should make the body want to move!

Basically this is rompin' and stompin' music, but Slow tunes can maintain the feeling: curiously, on miscellaneous public gigs, the greatest, often the only, applause, is more often for slow tunes, such as "Do you know what it means to miss New Orleans" played very expressively, or "Basin Street Blues" played very rhythmically, not the virtuosic killer-dillers. Some slow tunes are more suitable for expressive playing than others—those that make you wail probably will get the most audience response... I feel that all but concert gigs should be played as dance gigs; do that and the music more likely will be most effective, ie. have the greatest impact on the audience. When playing tunes in Concert situations, if you want to play at "virtuoso display" tempos, that's cool: your function is to be you...But good body-movement tempos probably will get the most response. When planning sets for any type of gig, the best mix makes various parts of the body move, the whole body move in different ways, and occasionally sparks cheers at virtuosity. Study the performance notes, find the precise tempos that make you and your colleagues bounce, groove, swing and stomp the hardest; make lists of tunes that produce the same results; make set lists that mix maximum variety; do it all over again.

There are two main types of improvising: 1. Playing variations on the melody: You have the melody and chords in your head, and you add notes, change the phrasing, etc. 2. Creating something new over the chords. Some musicians who know at least bits and pieces of many tunes enjoy quoting melodies or famous solos during their solos; sometimes the other musicians pick up on this and go 'round and 'round until they run out of quotes; that's not improvising, but it can be a lot of fun and grab audiences.

Some of the classic records play the melodies quite differently from the published music. There seems to be no "definitive" version. On some tunes the classic record has so many variations of the "melody" that all one can do is suggest a workable approximation; in some cases the record was the only source available. Sometimes, we simplified the melody and chords for playability.

Note that some tunes have the VERSE and CHORUS. When you see "CHORUS" at the beginning of a tune, the VERSE is at the bottom. Usually the verse is optional, but sometimes it is a standard part of the tune as usually played. I tried to include the verse if it has a significant melody, and indicate when it is usually played.

Most of the tunes are arranged in straight alphabetical order; ignore apostrophes in contractions—all the "I" tunes are together, as are "If, I'm, I've", in that order. However, a few tunes take up only half a page or less, so to save space, I've put most of them on 2-3-tune pages, and some are added on to two page tunes. Some tunes are out of alphabetical order to enable the pages of 2-page tunes to face each other. The tunes out of order are italicized in the Index.

Playing Dixieland

Rhythm playing is the main subject of this essay, though there are a few notes at the end for the horns. Old music has its own rhythm styles, just as modern jazz and rock do. And if any of the rhythm players barge ahead and do their own thing, they can destroy the impact of the music, even take all the fun out of it for everyone else in the band and audience. They aren't teaching old-style rhythms in school at any level, so the teachers don't know them either.

Younger rhythm-folk and anyone else who doesn't know the music, Hear This: In old music, the rhythm section sits behind the horns, both physically and artistically. Your job is to make the horns sound good and the dancers groove the roof. You are the rhythm section; unlike modern jazz and pop players, you are not equal to the horns. You provide, appropriate rhythm, strokes, and chords. KISSS method--Keep It Simple, Solid and Soft--Yes, S-O-F-T: the horns control the volume dynamics--you follow them and make sure you don't play louder than they do!!

Before you stroke a lick, notice the instrumentation. In fact, when you get booked, ask the bandleader about the:

- Instrumentation in the band.
- Rhythm style he/she/it wants.
- Repertoire being played.

Now, figure out what kind of strokes you are going to use. That is, will the bass or tuba play 1&3 or 4-4; will the piano boom-chuck, do mainly right-handed zaps, stride, or ricky-tick all night? Will the drummer ride the big cymbal or do brushes or go b-o-o-m chick or do "4-on-the-floor" bass drum, or play a lot of press rolls? ---> If there is a banjo, the drummer should stay off the ride cymbal; use nice whacking brushes with the guitar for non-slow tunes. Listen to what the horns are doing as a group or individually, and support them; if they are syncopating, play straight 4--it'll send their notes flying into the stratisphere. Banjos and guitars can play a powerful dynamic role simply by proper choice of chopped 4-4, off-beats, or held strokes. Zaps and solos are part of the fun of playing dixieland; but comping is an art, and a worthy rhythm person knows how and when to comp; knows how to play the various rhythm styles; can feel whatever style is being played; and supports the effort by playing appropriately. The rhythm section

- is a unit: a good one liberates dancers;
- is unnoticed by horns because they are so comfortable they are playing above their norm:
- is so unified that the individual instruments well might barely distinguishable to listeners; maintains a balance of sounds.

Routines

Verses: Most old songs had a Verse. The verse may or may not played in a particular tune depending on tradition; it's usually before the melody (first) chorus, but often may be played after the melody, and often is played again before the out choruses. EG. Verse-Chorus-Solos, Chorus-Verse-Chorus-Solos, Chorus-Verse-Chorus.

Endings are usually more or less at the whimsy of the lead horn, but there are some tunes with well-known endings. Standard patterns: Any tune may have 1 or 2 "out" choruses. "Traditional jazz" bands end multi-strained tunes with a 2-bar extended or "double" ending, using the same chord, inserted between bars 31 and 32 (23 and 24 for blues, which are usually played 2 X per strain); and may use double endings for anything fast. However, the piano-bass / Eddie Condon style bands often use the drum tag pattern: Sudden ending, 4 bars drums (maybe 8), 4 bars (maybe 8) band tag. Dance band or jazz horn players often use the I / VI ending. Routines vary from band to band, depending in part on which, if any, classic version of the tune is being copied.

Breaks and Stops are very important in traditional jazz. Rhythm is silent or plays a specific beat pattern ("stop"), while a horn solos. You ZAP the first note of the break. Some breaks (Tiger Rag) and stops (Dippermouth Blues) are standard parts of the tune; others are part of a band's arrangement, or are called ad hoc by a horn, or even rhythm person: > - - - or >> - or -> -> (- is a tacit beat; > is a band zap on the beat). If played with authority, they really zip up the tune and make it more fun to play. Be prepared to take a break of one or two bars without advance warning--someone may turn around suddenly and point to... you. A nifty break by a newcomer is most impressive. They may be testing you.

Dynamics are very important. Volume well might vary from strain to strain or chorus to chorus. If there are 2 band "in" choruses, 1st is "up", 2nd is "down"; if 2 out choruses, 1st is down, 2nd is up. Or vice versa. A great effect is to drop the volume of bars 17-23 in the out chorus, then really hit the last 8 bars. Many lead horns, especially in small formats, open and close with the melody, playing it "down". Some consistently play a hot out chorus. Follow the leader!!

1920s pop tunes. This is "square" two-beat music. Piano mostly boom-chucks, or syncopates as a change-up. Banjo often plays 2 - 4, changing-up with a 4 - 4, gliss, or occasional mummers stroke. Tuba / bass mostly does 1- 3. Drums use bass on 1 - 3, snare on 2 - 4, with frequent zaps on choked 6", 8" or high-hat cymbal. Chords often change in 3 beat cycles (the usual is 4 or 2!!) Eg: C..G7 ..C. This pattern is not used much in Dixieland, but if you ever play the original stock charts or in the 20s style, you'll need to practice it.

The Horns Many of the general comments on the music apply to the horns. Here are some considerations for the front line. Style is important. Dixieland played by modern jazz players, no matter how good they are, usually sounds like hell because Dixieland isn't Bebop: it isn't "cool", it's "hot". This statement is directed at you as an individual, playing with a group of traditional style players. Of course, if the other players are beboppers, the music may be great—But it ain't Dixieland and if your audience—the ones paying the freight—expects Dixieland, the folks may be disappointed. As a minimum, you should be able to play 30s swing-style, without extended chords, with a warm, not "cool" sound.

Solos: The traditional New Orleans style featured ensemble playing, with very few solos, except in breaks. However, most bands structure the performance of each tune with one or two ensemble choruses going in, maybe chorus-verse-chorus, or verse-chorus, a string of solos, one or two out ensemble choruses. It all-too-rarely occurs to the musicians that the same routine tune after tune can be b-o-r-i-n-g to the audience. Even when the performance is varied with more or less fancy arrangements going in or out, the solos remain.

Consider this: do you really have something interesting to say or hot licks or fancy gimmicks for every tune? Sure, you have fun soloing, and of course some of your best moments come from the stimulation of what's happening at the moment. But if you find you feel no inspiration during a tune, why not pass on it rather than bore the audience? It seems that most of the time, the rounds of solos occur in mindless cycles. This isn't so bad for fast tunes, but a lower tempos, especially slow tunes, it makes the tunes drag on and on. Try splitting up the solos into 16- or even -8 bar segments. Harmonize with other horns behind the solo. As a listener, I really don't get much pleasure from 9 choruses of "Georgia"--4-5 will do just fine...

Liberal use of mutes provides a great change-up in the sound of the band—the brass can do straight or solotone mute harmonies behind the clarinet, or use the mutes during ensembles.

Dixieland styles:

There are several basic styles. 1. New Orleans traditional, 4-beat, usually neither "fast" nor "slow", and features much ensemble playing. 2. The most commonly played style is New York/Chicago/Eddy Condon, piano-bass-(guitar), which essentially is a form of 4/4 swing, has a greater variety of tempos and tunes, from slow to hot/fast, features rounds of solos. 3. "Ragtime", which is square and not played that often for entire gigs. 4. 1940s New Orleans "Revival", hard square 4-beat. 5. West Coast "Revival", 2-beat (banjo-tuba), not "fast".

Tune sources: CDs and music books

If you intend to play Dixieland regularly, listen to the old records. There are many CDs of just about everything you'd need. The original Audio Fidelity "Dukes of Dixieland" records (to date only one CD has been issued) have all the cliches and patterns, and are great learning tools. Turk Murphy (well represented on CD) did all the trad and saloon tunes. The Stomp Off label has current bands playing 20's jazz. Robert Parker's CDS label stereoizes many basic 20's and 30's records; John R. T. Davies' "restorations", which are found on many CD labels, seem to get the most sound out of the 78's.

The best learning tool is a tape recorder under your chair recording every performance, rehearsal--every time you play. Listen to it as soon as you get home, to hear what was right or what you screwed up--what didn't fit and what made the band sound better--while you still remember the gig and what you were thinking while you were playing. This is the quickest way to become useful in a band or solo context. Don't let the bad stuff get you down; look for what's right and practice it; note what to avoid in the future, so you don't get into any bad habits. Do use your tapes for reality checks--new players and bands usually don't know when they are playing well or badly. Even experienced musicians have times when a performance felt good and was actually terrible...

Remember: You're there to entertain the audience. As an individual, you are there to make the band sound better, and make the client want to have the band for his/her next event. You never know who's in the audience, so always conduct yourself in a professional manner, on and off the bandstand. If you're playing with the band for the first time, check with the leader from time to time to see whether he wants you to play more or less conservatively.

First Chorus 6/8 march tempo--have drummer do street beat and roll-off. Last 2 bars, lead horn pick melody up at fast tempo.

Same chords as Bill Bailey, Bourbon Street Parade. Can do a mini-set: Bill B. at sing-along tempo, Bourbon Street as moderate 2-beat, W&L fast.

Breaks optionally: 1. all choruses, 2. in & out choruses only

ROUTINE: A A, B, A, C, Solos 2 X each, A C C Tempo is as fast as lead horn can do C.

What Do You Want Me To Do (Bb book) 210

4/4 Very slow, expressive

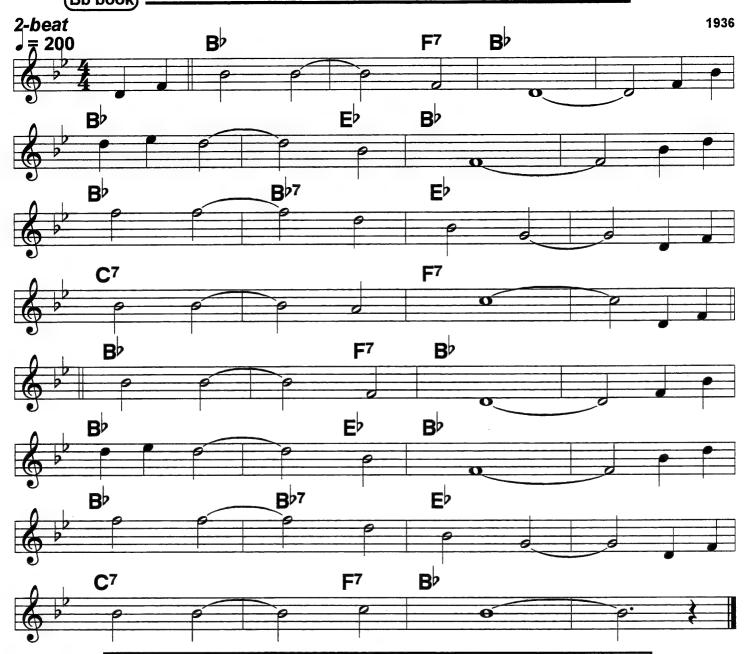

ROUTINE: VOCAL A B, solos, VOCAL A B, bjo or pno A, other solo B, VOCAL A. (on second vocal B, clarinet harmonize note for note; or do wordless vocal w/clarinet.)

2 classic versions: One of the all-time instrumental trad classics, Armstrong-Hines, 1928; the other was sung by Ethel Waters. This sheet provides the classic Armstrong solo introduction, the melody that can be sung or played instrumentally and soloed on, and the ending to the Armstrong version.

Chorus:

|When my sugar walks down the street,/
all the little birdies go tweet tweet tweet./
And in the ev'ning when the sun goes down,/
it's never dark if she don't frown./
She's so affectionate and I'll say this that when she kisses me I sure stay kissed./

ROUTINE: Varies. Play Verse as dirge, in tempo, or solo rubato. After solos, you can play in F, modulate to G, Ab, Bb, C. Soloists often play other tunes Red River Valley, She'll Be Coming Around the Mountain, etc. etc. Try it in F minor. 4-bar drum tag, 4 or 8 bar band tag (eg. last 8 bars of Chorus)

Some audiences have a tradition of marching around in a line; it's great if the horns and mobile rhythm players can jump up and lead them around.

Routines: 1. Intro, Chorus, Verse, Solos 2X on Chorus, V C n X; 2. Vamp, V C, Solos 2X on chorus, V C n X

World Is Waiting For the Sunrise (Bb book) 221

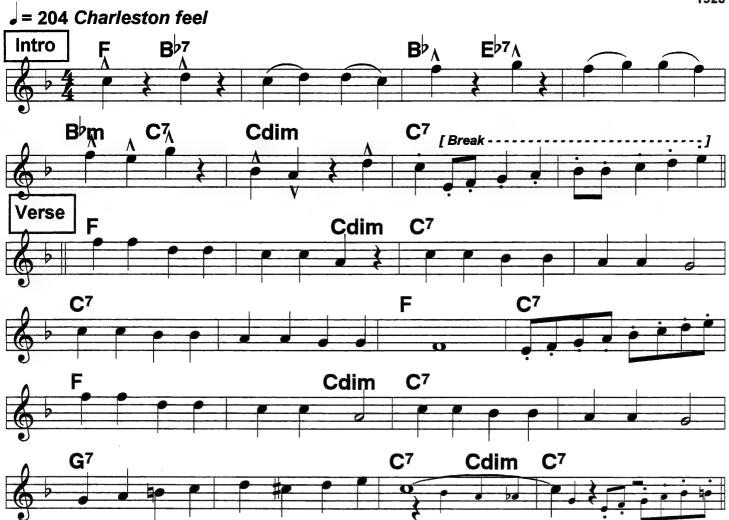

ROUTINE: Intro, A A, B, Solos on B, B B, Ending is last 8 bars of B. Solos: Bands often play the first 9 beats of B, solo starts on beat 10. Ending: can do drum tag 4 bars, band last eight bars.

Optional B strain routine: This is rarely played. Usually when played, then the INTRO is the last 8 bars of what becomes the C strain.

Verse:

Who's that coming down the street,| Who's that looking so petite/ Who's that coming down to meet me here?/// ||||| Who's that you know who I mean:/ sweetest "who" you've ever seen./ Here's the most important thing of all: /// /|||

Chorus:

Yes/ Sir/, that's my baby, No/ Sir, / don't mean "maybe" Yes/ sir,/ that's my baby now./// ||||| Yes/ Ma'am,/ we've decided, no/ Ma'am,/ we won't hide it, Yes/ ma"am,/ you're invited now./// //By the Way,/// /|by the way,/// /|when we reach/ the/ preacher I'll say:/// /|||

Yes/ Sir,/ that's my baby, No/ Sir,/ don't mean "maybe" Yes/ sir,/ that's my baby now./// /|||

The ricky ticky licks and gizmos are taken directly from the vintage stock arrangement. Straight mute the brass, banjo 2/4, tuba 1/3, syncopated piano. Don't exaggerate the effect, because it's very likable music, different from Dixieland, a good changeup on most gigs.

ROUTINE: Infinite variation. Basically, play Verse 2-3 X, Chorus 2 X. SOLOS: Band plays first 9 beats, solo starts at break. 2nd X, just solo. Melody line is from the sheet music. First 4 bars of V and C are the key melody segments.

Routine: Verse, Chorus, Patter, Solos on Chorus. Mainly vocal number.

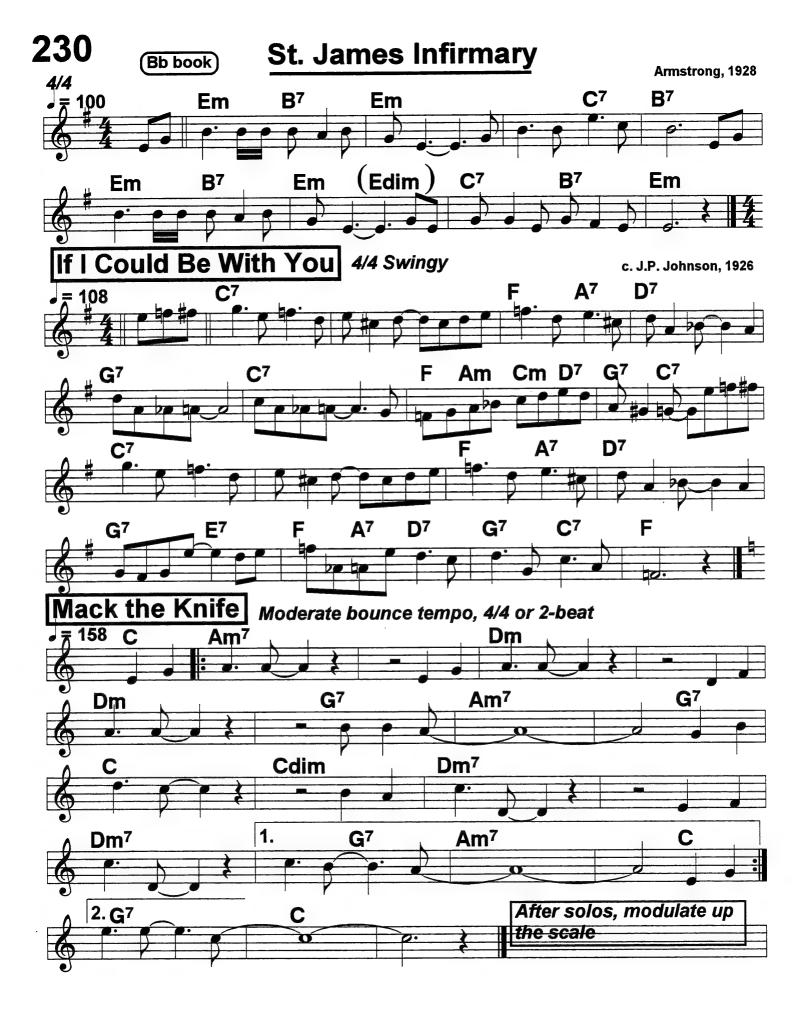

Each tune is faster starting with a slow one, so after a fast tune, play this page as a mini-set. Then you can play another fast one.

Learn these "cold", understanding that 1. there are variations, but memorizing them will enable you to follow faster and better. 2. many 20s tunes with "blues" in the title are not blues at all, merely pop tunes. Some like "Tishomingo" are partly blues, but have 16 or 32 bar patterns, non-blues progressions in the extra 4 bars, etc.

Battle Hymn Of the Republic

Don't voluntarily play it. Southerners request it all the time, but alternate choruses with "Battle Hymn", and if there are many Afro-Americans in the audience, don't play it.

240 (Bb book) Give My Regards To Broadway

A common convention theme is red, white & blue "Patriotic" or "Party Convention". Any Cohan tunes are considered appropriate, but they hired a Dixie, not a brass band (which would play Sousa marches, etc.) so you can mix these tunes in with familiar Dixie tunes.
